Have you though about creating your own multisensory applications ?
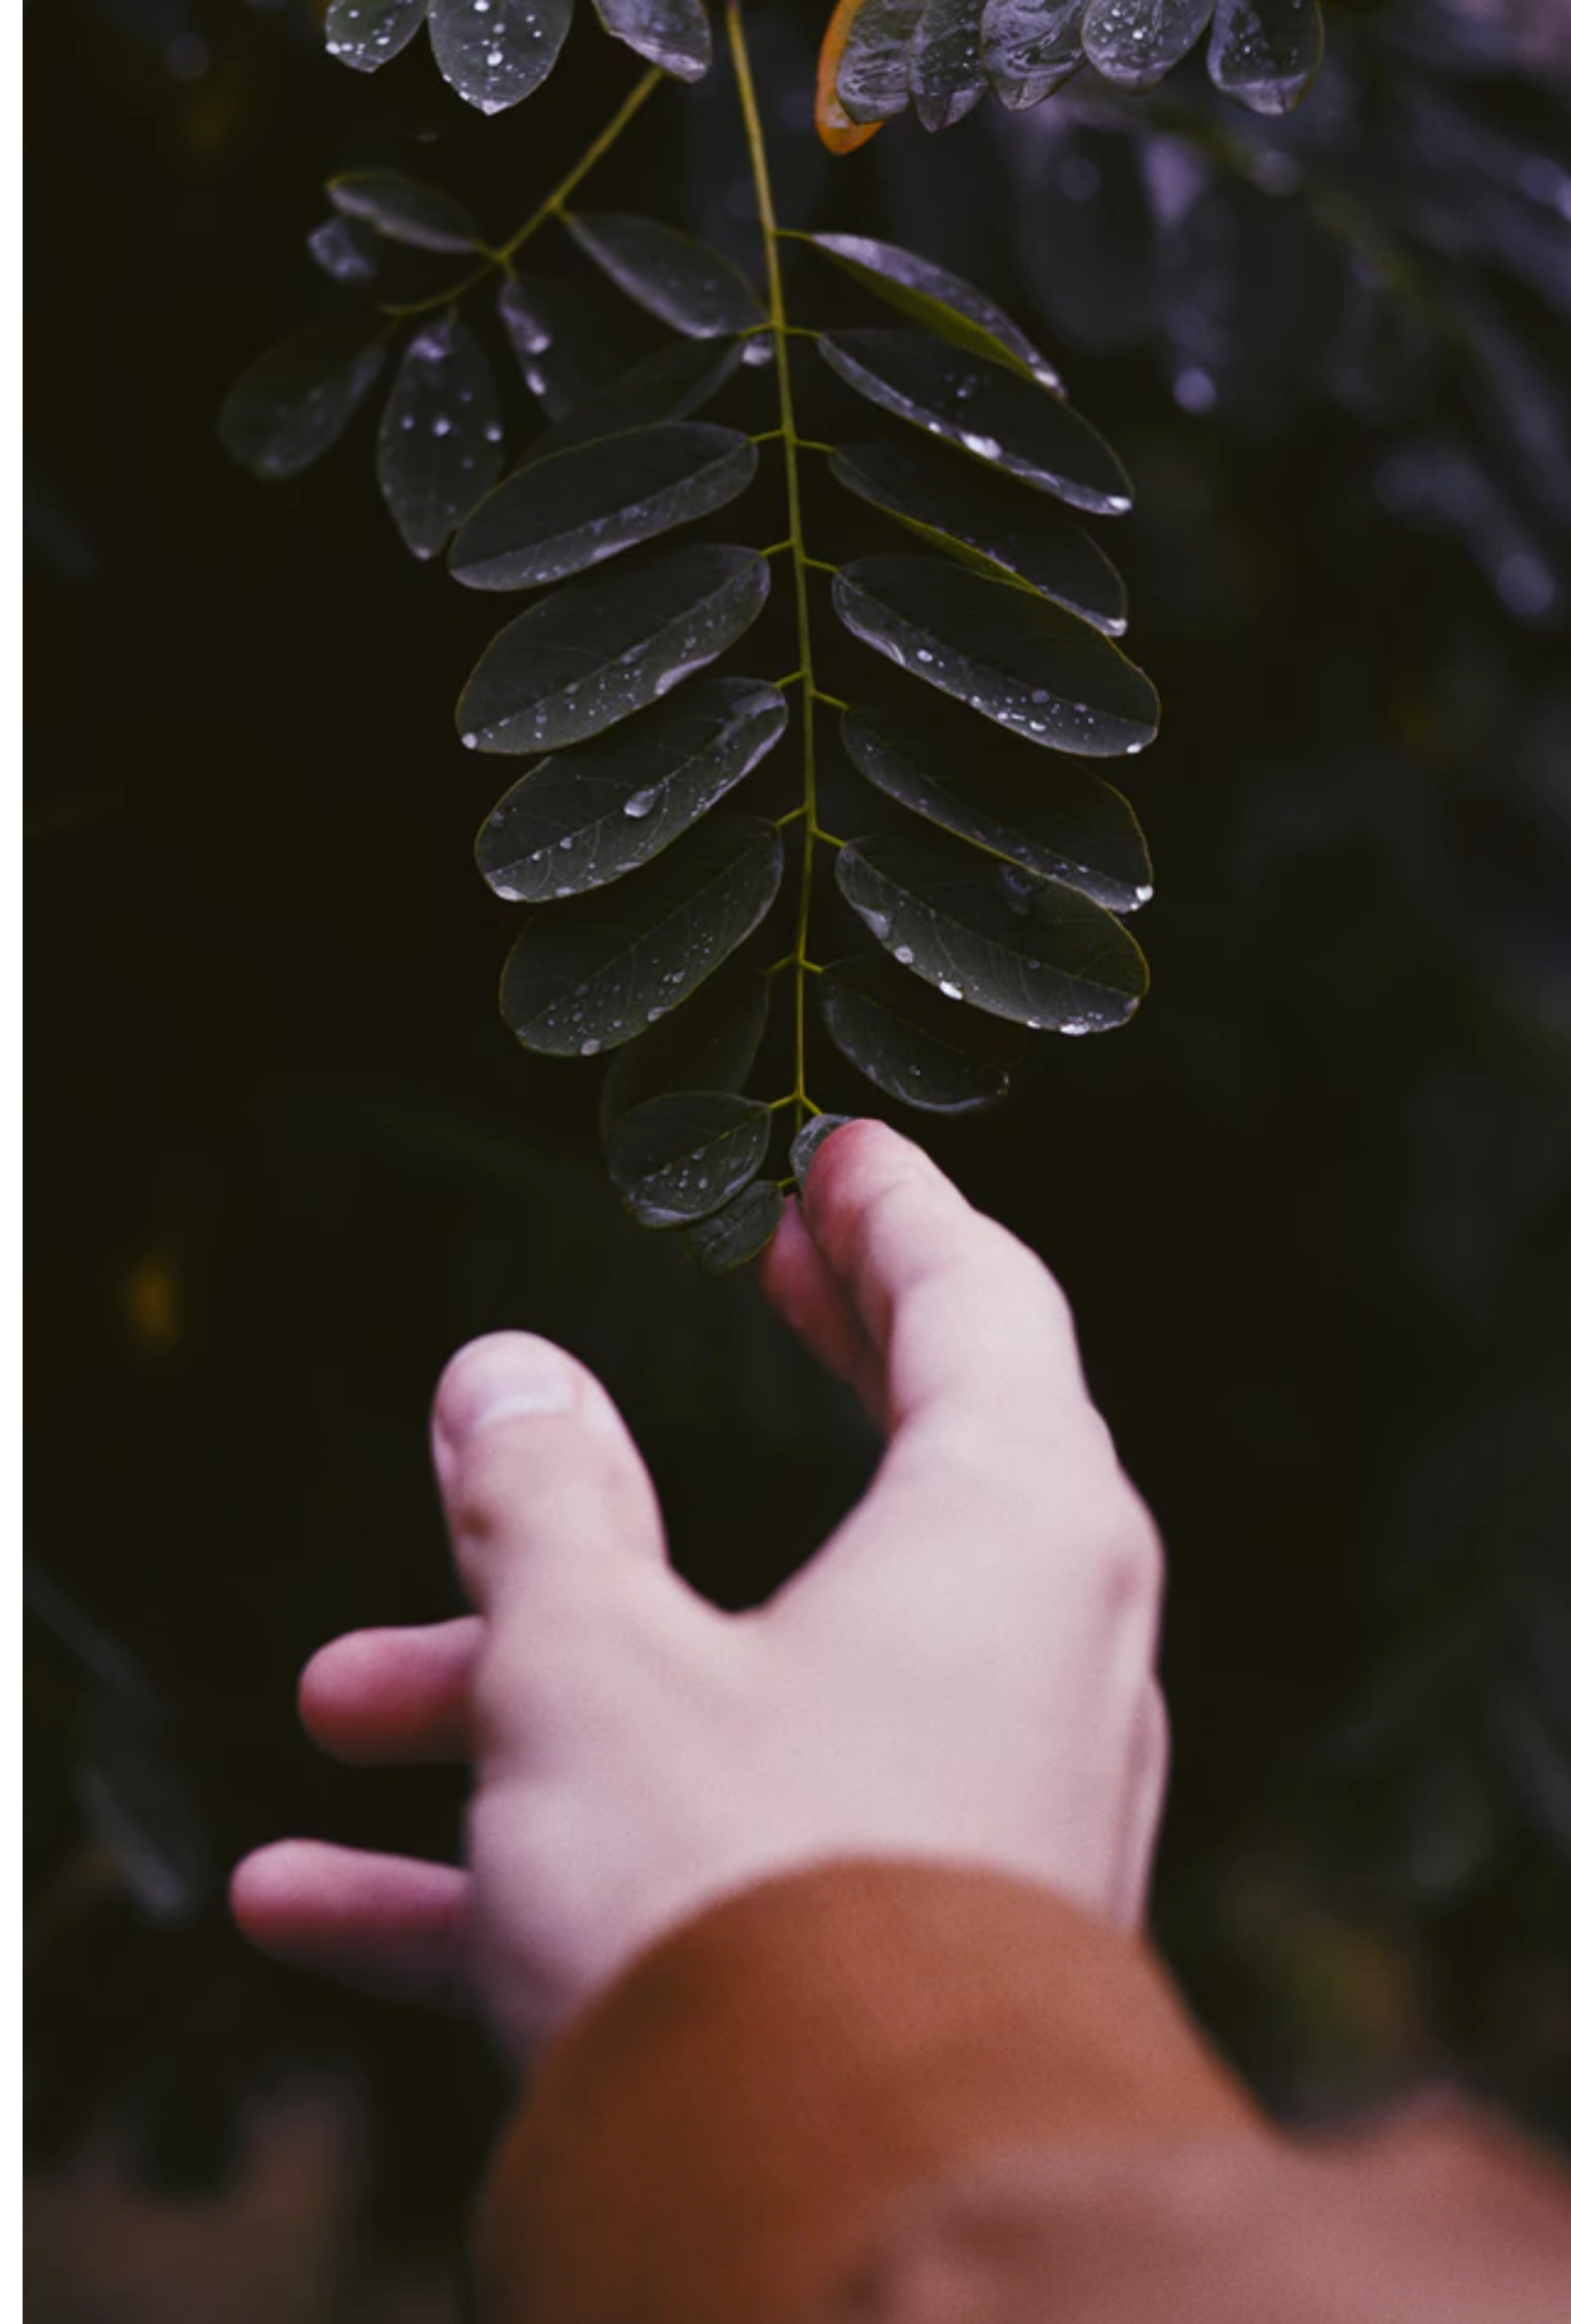

But you do not have programming skills, do you?